for the depressed classes in Trivandrum or rather in the important educational centres of Travancore, the establishment of scholarships, say one or two foreign scholarships to such of the depressed class members who have succeeded in obtaining general education necessary for proceeding to Europe, Japan, or any other foreign countries, such are the lines on which the condition of the depressed classes may be improved, It may also be necessary for them to have good healthy house sites near towns. Now the concessions shown in far away outlying village parts by way of relaxation of puduval rules for the assignment of lands and all that cannot be of much utility to the depressed classes for the reason that they are labourers and that they cannot get labour in out of the way places. So suitable lands have to be acquired near the town sites. What is the meaning of saying that there should be houses built for them when they have no lands? First of all lands may be acquired. Then it is time enough for houses to be built on them. Suitable sites have to be acquired for the use of the depressed classes. Then only the other items in the programme for the amelioration of their condition can be worked.
